

Biography:

The existence of Cindy as a human being to this date is not fully resolved. Mankind doesn't know - it might be just a computer creating the most effective loops through an algorithm but on the other hand the music is filled with elements that lead to the conclusion that this "Cindy-thing" must be filled with life and soul somewhere.

While investigators continue to analyze the previously released, stripped and toolish sounds, something or someone carries on to dash out meticulously crafted, purist Techno.

There is no assurance of any kind of revelation of what or who Cindy is. In fact the more interesting question is: Do the people want to know what's hiding behind those 5 letters forming a female name? in the end it's just kickdrums, hats and loops - created to make mankind dance into delirium – fitted out with aptly ironic track names.
